We are an internationally renowned family-owned company headquartered in Cressier, near Neuchâtel. We design, develop, and manufacture centrifugal pumps and control valves, supplying demanding sectors such as industry, chemicals, and wastewater treatment.

To strengthen our Production department, Emile Egger & Cie SA, based in Cressier, is looking for a:

Production Manager (M/F) – 100%

You will lead the Production department, which encompasses various aspects of the manufacturing process. Your role will be to ensure the production and delivery of pumps and parts within the required timeframe and quality standards. You will be responsible for improving the efficiency of operational processes. With several production sites worldwide, you will work on strengthening collaboration with them.

Main responsibilities :

- Production Manager (including machining, assembly, metalwork, methods, maintenance, and workshop planning)
- Implementation, review, and monitoring of production indicators
- Collaboration with the Technical Department and project managers
- Definition of continuous improvement processes
- Collaboration with the Quality Department to ensure product quality
- Management and optimization of production costs in Cressier
- Implementation of safety rules and environmental standards on site
- Participation in the development of the product strategy and adaptation of operations accordingly
- Defining the production strategy and proposing associated investments
- Contact with critical suppliers
- Participation in Management Team meetings

Profile and skills :

- Proven track record in a similar role within one-unit or small-batch production
- Knowledge of machining techniques, processes, and tools
- Natural leadership and production management experience
- Strong organizational and analytical skills
- Demonstrated project management experience
- Excellent interpersonal skills
- Basic understanding of finance
- Fluency in French and English (knowledge of German would be a strong asset)
